We must figure out how we are going to handle all these compliance requirements!

There's a lot of privacy tech out there, but how do we decide what to choose?

Perhaps I can help!

This will take care of all your troubles!

What in the world? This isn't what I'm talking about at all! Besides, you clearly put no effort into this! At least kids have the decency to ask their parents to make their project for them! What role do you have on the privacy team?

Anyway, that's your first decision. Building your own solution allows you to customize it to suit whatever compliance requirements you are trying to reach. Be warned! It may also be expensive and difficult to maintain.

If you do go with a third party, make sure you do your research. Ask them questions. Make sure they provide a demo so you can see their offering in action. If you are going to spend the money on a privacy tool, make sure it meets all of your needs both right now and the future!

Getting the right tool can position your organization to tackle the compliance requirements of GdPR, CCPA, and beyond! Use every resource at your disposal to make the right choice!

Ha!

I can answer that question easily!

...or will you try to make your own solution in-house?
